act now. enjoy forever.

‘Relevant climate change learning for everyone’.

The successful, and free, delivery of Carbon Literacy Training in Argyll and Bute is set to continue. The training has been designed by ACT, is suitable for all residents, and is called ‘Carbon Literacy for Scottish Communities’. Previously, 94 members of the Argyll and Bute community have taken part in this Carbon Literacy training.

ACT Now

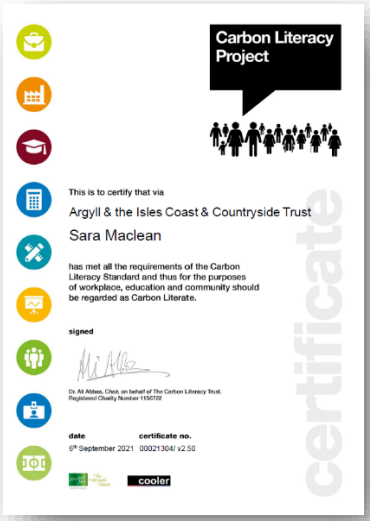
Delivering Climate Change Education

Carbon Literacy Project

This training, as with all Carbon Literacy Training, covers the following:

- The science behind climate change
- Social equity & climate change
- What you can do to act on climate change
- Strategies and skills for communicating action on climate change

Following successful completion of the training, and short assessment, you are awarded a Carbon Literacy Certificate.
This training can form part of your workplace CPD.



This training takes place over two morning sessions-

August 30th & September 6th – 0930-1300 both days

To find out more or reserve a space contact course facilitator, Jamie Joyce, at jamie@act-now.org.uk or call 07943020241